Two Students Asked to Leave Perry County By Judge Noplis

A 17-year-old student who says he worked to aid impoverished mountain people charged yesterday he was given a 24-hour warning to leave Perry County by the County judge. The student—Charles Koehler, Oak Ridge, Tenn., said the warning also applied to a fellow worker, Miss Sally Susskind, 21, New York City, N. Y.

County Judge Babe C. Noplis said he delivered the warning after State Police picked up the two Thursday night.

He said he told Koehler that he was a juvenile without known means of making a living and that unless he left within 24 hours he would be picked up again.

Miss Susskind, the judge said, was informed that she was subject to vagrancy charges and possibly contributing to the delinquency of a minor, and that she, too must leave within 24 hours or face prosecution.

The pair have been connected with a so-called "Appalachian project" sponsored by the Appalachian Committee for Full Employment, the Committee for Miners, and the Students for a Democratic Society.

To Study Social Work
Hamish Sinclair, field secretary for the miners committee, said the two were among five college students who came to the mountains to help inform underprivileged people about their rights.

Koehler, a high-school graduate, intends to enter Michigan State University's School of Social Work. Miss Susskind is a student at City College of New York.

Koehler, at his home in Oak Ridge, said he left Hazard because of previous plans and not because of the warning. Sinclair said Miss Susskind had been dispatched, to New York with affidavits prepared for legal counsel, and that she will return despite the warning.

Noplis denied Koehler's statement that Noplis directed the 24-hour warning against all members of the movement. At the same time, the judge said "he stands ready to take action against any of the group that strays from the law."

"I told them," he said, "that I have a big law book here with a lot of laws in it, I don't mean to persecute anybody but I will perform the duties of my office under all circumstances."

Justice Department Notified

"These people have been roaming the hollows at all hours of the night, and knocking on doors, and insisting that they be admitted."

Koehler said State Police Sgt. Willard Mitchell took them into custody, without charge, at a time when they were in a taxicab.

Sinclair said he brought the matter to the attention of Frank Dumbaugh in Washington, a lawyer in the Civil Rights Division of the Department of Justice.

Sinclair said he felt the students were in as much danger as those working on racial disorders in Mississippi and that he asked police protection.

Instead of protection, Sinclair went on, the Department assigned Hazard F.B.I. agent Andrew Carnegie to investigate.

"I called back and told Mr. Dumbaugh I didn't want the F.B.I., especially a local agent on close terms with local police, and especially Mr. Carnegie," Sinclair said. "What I wanted was help from federal marshals to protect our people.

"Threats Have Been Made"

Sinclair charged that threats have been made, not only against the student workers, but also against the families they have been living with.

A purpose of the movement has been for the students to live with impoverished families and share with them the conditions they must endure for survival.

Some of these families, Sinclair said, have been threatened with loss of such benefits as food stamps and other welfare relief.

Noplis said he is not at all concerned about reference of the matter to civil-rights authorities.

"I will take all of them on when I know I am right and doing my duties," he said. "I told them they could send for Bobby Kennedy or anybody else they wanted if they weren't satisfied."

Annexation Above Lothair Not Feasible

At a meeting of the Hazard City Board of Commissioners this afternoon, City Manager C. C. Colwell reported that a proposed annexation of Christopher, Cornett's Hill, and Diablock would not be, at this time, financially feasible. He also noted the annexation of Lothair would be feasible.

In explaining his statement, Colwell said that an entire new sewage system would have to be put in that area and it might cost as much as $500,000.

In other actions, the board agreed with a citizen's committee that the 40-year old fire truck should be preserved as a showpiece in Hazard.

A suggestion that two ramps be built beside the present fire department to house the old truck and to provide a shelter for the Rescue Squad truck was personally endorsed by the Board, on the condition that it not be too expensive and that local civic groups contribute something toward it. Final decision will be accorded at the next meeting.

The Board also agreed to let the Hazard Junior Chamber of Commerce use the lower ramp of the Bypass parking lot for a fund raising chicken-fry and country auction on September 5.

Dedicating Buckhorn Lake Lodge

Governor Edward T. Breathitt is shown making the main address at the dedication of Kentucky's newest state park and lodge at Buckhorn. Approximately 500 people attended the dedication and listened to speakers that included Parks Commissioner Robert D. Bell and Highway Commissioner Henry Ward.

ARH Wage-Cut Struggle Is Shifted To Federal Mediator

An arbitrator will decide whether wage reductions for employees of Appalachian Regional Hospitals shall be applied also to service workers under contract at five ARH hospitals.

The Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service announced that the non-profit hospital corporation and District 50, United Mine Workers of America, had agreed to arbitration of the wage issue. The announcement followed negotiations in Lexington, Ky.

Commissioners S. W. Duncan and William Meagher of the FMCS also announced that ARH and the union had agreed on a new contract covering service workers at the ARH hospitals in Pikeville and South Williamson, Ky., Beckley and Man, W. Va., and Wise, Va. The contract runs to December 31, 1967.

The arbitrator's decision will apply only to the approximately 400 District 50 members employed at the five hospitals covered in the new contract.

The decision will not apply to approximately 350 union members working in five Kentucky hospitals at Harlan, Hazard, McDowell, Middlesboro and Whitesburg. Their wages cannot be reduced at the present because they are covered by a three-year contract signed last February 1.

Dr. Karl S. Klieka, president of Appalachian Hospitals, had asked District 50 to go along with wage reductions for its members at all 10 hospitals. The reductions would have amounted to $175,000 and would have represented two per cent of the ARH annual payroll.

Dr. Klieka said the wage reduction was needed to help ARH save $300,000 in expenses and avoid a deficit.

The ARH president and the District 50 negotiators, headed by Vice President Angelo Cefalo of Washington, also agreed that the arbitrator's ruling on wages would be final and binding on both parties and would be effective as of August 16, 1964.

They further agreed that the arbitrator should decide whether the new contract, applying to hospitals in Pikeville, South Williamson, Beckley, Man and Wise, would be reopened for new wage negotiations and on

Carr's Fork Meeting Provides Residents Information On Dam

Main Topics Of Discussion Centered Around Relocation Of Area Highways and Flood Control Pool Elevation

Present preliminary plans for the Carrs Fork Reservoir were explained to residents of that area by a team from the Louisville Corps of Engineers at a Monday night meeting held in the Carr Creek Elementary School at Cody. It was the third in a series of such meetings to inform the citizens of the progress and consequences of the reservoir project.

The team consisted of Major Morris Gardner, Deputy District Engineer, Louisville District, Fred Morgan and Robert Hayes officials in the civilian engineering division at Louisville, and S. D. Sullivan, relocation engineer.

Major Gardner told the overflow crowd of some 460 persons that the two main objectives of preliminary studies were (1) the determination of the depth of the reservoir pools and (2) the relocation of highways around the reservoir.

He said that present plans contemplate the flood control pool elevation to be 1055-feet with an additional five feet allowed as a bumper area.

As for relocation of roads, Highway 15 will follow the north side of the reservoir across the spillway to Red Fox where it will connect with the original 15. It will be raised above the water line along the reservoir back to Sassafras. The present road to Carr Creek High School will also be elevated above the water line.

Land acquisition was an important part of the discussion.

Sullivan told the audience that real estate acquisition would begin shortly after final approval of the project and that it would be conducted from a detailed section map.

He further added that initial acquisition at the dam site will start within 90 days—the first negotiations will include only those seven tracts right at the dam site.

It will be at least another year before other property can be bought and Mr. Sullivan noted that this acquisition would take approximately 18 months.

Members of the contingent were not able to pinpoint a construction start date, but Major Gardner estimated in the spring of 1965.

Mr. Hayes, in reply to an audience question, said that the reservoir would provide an excellent recreational area and that residents could expect the minimum water level, during the driest period, to be at an elevation of 984 feet, which is still a good depth for recreational sports.

He said that sites would be chosen at several attractive readily accessible spots for picnicking, swimming, and boat launching, all dependent, of course, on road locations.

During the meeting it was brought out that the Carr Creek Elementary School would be under water and would have to be moved. Sullivan also told the audience that any and all graveyards, near or affected by reservoir water, would be moved by the Federal Government.

In answering a question, Sullivan provided the audience with the biggest murmur and surprise of the evening. He said that the trend, without exception, in all reservoir areas has been an increase in population and businesses, not a decrease. Major Gardner seconded this statement.

Many in the audience were worried over whether there would be enough residents left in the area to make the High School worth functioning. The contingent's answer apparently reassured the residents.

L&N Acquires Twelve New Diesel-Electric Locomotives

The first of 12 new high-horsepower diesel-electric freight locomotives have been placed in service by the Louisville & Nashville Railroad on its line between DeCoursey, Corbin, and other Eastern Kentucky points.

The new diesels, which exert 2,750 horsepower, currently are the most powerful single-engine railroad locomotives being produced in the United States. Massive in size, they measure nearly 70 feet in length and are 15 feet high. Designated the "Century 628," the new locomotives are being delivered by the builder, Alco Products, Schenectady, N. Y.

The units have six-wheel trucks with all axles powered, which, according to C. A. Love, the railroad's chief mechanical officer, spreads the power over more wheels to provide increased traction on steep grades. Another feature of the engines is the dynamic brake, which, when activated, converts the electric traction motors on the wheels to generators to help retard the train when descending long grades. This feature is expected to aid performance of the locomotives during runs over the hilly Eastern Kentucky terrain.

This is one of the 12 new diesel-electric freight engines that the Louisville and Nashville Railroad has placed in service at Eastern Kentucky points. They are designed to run smoothly and effectively in the hilly terrain encountered in this section of Kentucky.

Mt. Olivet Baptist Church Observes Anniversary With Special Services

The Mt. Olivet Baptist Church observed her 50th anniversary July 23, 1964. The Church held special services in commemoration of the founding of the congregation.

Special speakers were Rev. Tom Hale former pastor, Mr. K. W. Cornett, chairman of the deacons, and Mr. M. F. Halcomb, charter member.

Mr. K. W. Cornett prepared a church history for the occasion, many former members and friends attended. The ladies served a fine meal.

Mt. Olivet Baptist Church was organized July 23, 1914, in the old lower Leatherwood school house by the Rev. A. S. Petrey who served as part time pastor for twenty-one years.

The site for the first church building was donated by Mr. Joe Duff near the mouth of Little Leatherwood. The church building was located there until it was destroyed by fire in 1950. The church had no insurance but Miss Carrie Cornett gave the church a house in the old W. M. Ritter Lumber Company Camp to meet in, later the church moved to a boarding house that had been used by Ritter Lumber Company and has met there since 1959 until the present time.

The present pastor is Rev. Calvin Trent, Jr., who was converted in Mt. Olivet in 1937 and was ordained March 8, 1959 and called as pastor the same year.

The membership has increased, and the offerings have more than doubled in the past two years. Missions offerings

Taps For Mozart Mascot Muff

RICHMOND (Special) — Mozart, Eastern Kentucky State College's beloved mascot, died Friday at the age of 17.

The music-loving canine, who was an institution at Eastern, was laid to rest in one of his favorite spots — a slope behind the James E. Van Peursem Music Pavilion.

A terrazzo-stone slab bearing an appropriate inscription will mark the grave.

Known to thousands of alumni and students, "Mo", as he was affectionately called, was born in 1947. While still a pup, he frequently visited the campus, especially the Music Building. It was Douglas Gaither, a 1952 graduate and music major, who adopted the dog and named him Mozart.

Before long the entire Music Department regarded him as their own. However, Mo's affection included the whole campus. When Gaither graduated, he asked Miss Kathleen Bales, then housemother of Burnam Hall, to care for Mozart. Since then, Miss Bales' house has been his home-away-from-campus.

Especially fond of music, he seldom missed a band or choir rehearsal, says James E. Van Peursem, retired head of the Music Department.

Although music was his favorite, Mozart sat in on classes in other departments, and attended most all campus functions, including movies, dances, dinner, and even baccalaureate and commencement activities, often leading the academic procession. He always appeared at these functions unescorted.

Mozart, with his uncanny ability to sense time, was known to signal the end of class lectures with a yawn, shake, and dignified exit, and upon several occasions, he informed a long-winded instructor of his talkativeness with a bark.

Mo marched with the band on the football field, but would leave when a rival band took the field. He even stood at attention when the national anthem was being played.

Life was never dull for the famous dog of mixed-pedigree. He frequently changed his daily habits of visiting various campus spots.

As the story goes, he only disliked one group on campus and that was the Pershing Rifles. It seems that at one football game during a demonstration, the group fired blanks into the air and nearly scared Mozart out of the county.

In earlier years because of his love for ice cream, he was given a charge account at one of the local drugstores.

In 1962, a portrait, painted by Mearl Risner, an Eastern art graduate, was presented to the College by the Eastern Student Council. It now hangs in the bookstore as one symbol of the affection his "alma mater" held for him.

EASTERN MASCOT DIES — Mozart, Eastern Kentucky State College's music-loving mascot, died Friday. The 17-year-old of mixed pedigree, who has been on the campus since a puppy, was laid to rest at a favorite spot behind the James E. Van Peursem Music Pavilion. A terrazzo-stone slab will mark the grave. Mozart is pictured above as he appeared to artist Mearl Risner, an Eastern graduate, who executed the original which hangs in the College bookstore. The painting was presented to the College by the Student Council.

HARD OF HEARING! DON'T BUY A HEARING AID "OFF THE SHELF!"

SAYS BILL GARDNER

Bill Gardner

If you have a problem hearing clearly, you can bank on one thing: YOUR hearing problem is not quite like anyone else's.

That is why I sincerely believe it is a costly mistake to buy a hearing aid "off the shelf," the way you'd buy a detergent in a grocery store.

All my personal experience with hearing problems and everything I have learned through my contacts with the research scientists at Beltone convinces me of this: if you have a hearing problem, you need and will welcome real, PERSONAL attention.

You will want to entrust your problem to someone who spends all his working time helping folks like you . . . someone who takes pride in a job well-done . . . someone TRAINED to help you hear more clearly.

The first step toward correcting your hearing problem is easy, sensible, and FREE.

It consists of a simple but precisely accurate electronic evaluation of your hearing to measure the kind and extent of your hearing loss.

This test takes only a few minutes. And it will be made with one of the world's finest audiometric units—the same kind of sensitive Beltone electronic device used by the U. S. armed services, and by hospitals, schools, and hearing clinics all over the world.

Perhaps I can help you to better hearing as I have so many others. Just call 436-5314 for an appointment. If you cannot come to Beltone of Hazard's office in Hazard Clinic Building, we can arrange for a consultant to call at your home.

This consultation will be made without charge.

Watch this column for more news of solved hearing loss problems.

Three "Basic Facts"

1. Nearly everybody reads a newspaper nearly every day.
2. Practically every sale of every product manufactured by your company (or by your clients) will be made to a newspaper reader.
3. Hence, the newspaper is basic and the effective use of its advertising columns constitutes the most powerful and the most profitable advertising force in existence, any day and every day.

Letter From Mrs. John Sherman Cooper

Mrs. Cooper Visits California

Although the Republican Convention in San Francisco is old news, I can't resist writing a bit about our trip to California. I am a Californian by birth, and never get over the thrill of passing the last mountain range and slipping down to the fertile coastal valleys and getting the first glimpse of the Pacific.

It was a perfect summer day when we arrived at what to me is the most beautiful city in the United States—sun bright, air clear, and the town alive with convention excitement.

Another delight when we reached our hotel on top of Nob Hill. Our suite had a lovely sitting room—white walls and curtains, a beautiful gold Japanese screen on the wall, and two huge lamps and a coffee table made of blue and white porcelain. The view of the bay was just as blue as the porcelain.

I have been coming to conventions since 1948, but this is the first time that we have stayed at a hotel where we didn't spend hours waiting for the elevator. Yet we were right next to the Mark Hopkins and the Fairmont and the Pacific Union Club, one of the best men's clubs in this country.

It was a godsend for my husband, as after the long hours at the convention hall he could go across the street and take a swim.

San Franciscans, like Kentuckians, are noted for their hospitality and I thought they outdid themselves this year in making things pleasant for the visitors.

The John Vioters gave a dinner dance at their Victorian house the Saturday before the Convention. It was a fascinating mixture of Republicans, plus the Democratic Governor of California and visitors from all over the world.

Sunday, the Herman Phlegers (he used to be legal advisor at the State Department under General Eisenhower, and is one of the best lawyers in this country.) invited us to their place in the country, about an hour from San Francisco. It was a most beautiful drive down the peninsula, the flowers outdoing anything we see in the East.

Gardeners Exhibit Their Skills In Flower Arrangements At Shows

GROWING FOR SHOWING

TIPS FOR THOSE PLANNING TO ENTER SHOW

Flower Shows have been developed over the years by gardeners as a place for them to exhibit their skills of growing an outstanding horticulture specimen or displaying beautiful artistic arrangements. It also gives the non-gardening viewers an opportunity to see what a perfect horticultural specimen should look like.

The following "Tips" are given as aids to those who are planning to enter the Live Flower Show "Circus with Flowers" to be presented by the Mountain View Garden Club and The Perry County Garden Club on September 12th and 13th.

1. Follow the rules (what more could be said?)
2. Avoid disqualification. (all too often, exhibitors who have hurriedly skimmed the specifications find themselves disqualified.)

In the Horticulture Division the outer petals of ROUND BLOOMS must be in good condition: the more fully open the center is, the better the bloom is.

The floret of SPIKES must be of good quality; the number of other open florets is important. Size is also an important factor.

The seven points essential to raising prize house plants are:

1. The PROPORTION between the plant and the container should be pleasing.
2. The plant should be symmetrical, this having been accomplished through daily quarterly rotation.

3. The specimen should be compact - Correct light intensity assures this.

4. ONE PLANT OR ONE CROWN is the rule unless PLANTS are specified.

5. The RIGHT plant should be selected for the Class. (A flowering plant with no blooms fails to qualify as a foliage entry.)

6. Quality and quantity of bloom and buds as well as size receive additional points.

7. Rarity and difficulty of cultivation are given prime credit.

CLEANLINESS: Remove spray and residue not only from the foliage of all plants but also be sure that you scrub your flower pots (the use of plastic pots eliminates this chore, but clay pots provide excellent drainage, and never use foil on your flower pots, the Judges may think they are grown this way.

First time entrants are urged to prolong the keeping quality of their exhibits by the following information:

A. Place a conditioner in a pail of water in preparation for cutting flowering bulbs, etc. Use either a commercial one or the homemade recipe of 2-1-1—2 tablespoons of sugar, 1 table-spoon of vinegar to 1 gallon of water. Since the ingredients are in alphabetical order: sugar, vinegar, water, they are easy to remember.

B. Use warm water for most, but know the common exceptions such as dahlias, fushias, and poppies.

C. Cut specimens ideally after sundown using a sterile razor blade or knife.

D. Sear flower stems losing a lot of sap, doing this before placing them in the conditioned water (Amaryllis, Heliotrope etc.)

E. Crush the lower 2" of woody shrubs before plunging them into the water (Chrysanthemums, Phlox, Lythrum, Stock, etc.)

Retard flower development by keeping the growing plant as dry as possible and by storing cut blooms in a cool dark place—Reverse this procedure to hasten maturity.

All specimens should be labeled accurately, using both botanical and commonplace names.

The following four suggestions will be found helpful by those planning to enter the show.

A. Carry cut specimens in water.

B. Use steady and tip-proof containers.

C. Leave plenty of room between exhibits to prevent vibration damage.

D. Protect blossoms from wind and weather.

Be mindful of the fact that haste during setting up of your specimens may mean the difference between a first or a lesser award. Plan for an early arrival and leave before the judging starts because an atmosphere of serenity is to your advantage.

Don't be discouraged about all of the above hints, just keep on petting that special flower or flowers and they will be at their best for showing. Think about Ralph Waldo Emerson's quotation

"Love of beauty is taste—The Creation of beauty is art".

M. C. NAPIER OPENS 1964 GRID SEASON WITH WHEELWRIGHT

SLANTS ON SPORTS

By Oscar L. Combs
Herald Sports Editor

The 1964 football season opens tomorrow night when Ed Wilson's M. C. Napier Navajos take on the Wheelwright Trojans at the Napier Athletic Field at 7:30 p.m.

Hazard's Bulldogs open their 1964 slate with Wallins High at Collins Field August 28. The Bulldogs of coach Jack Carey will be trying to regain the EKMC title after losing the crown last year. Hazard had to forfeit three games last year because of using an over-aged player.

Dilce Combs' Lewis Enters Hazard

Strong rumors have become a reality about Dilce Combs' star basketball player Carlson Lewis transferring to Hazard High School.

In a telephone conversation with Mr. John C. Stringer, principal of Hazard High School, this columnist was told that Lewis was in the process of registering at Hazard High Wednesday and had stated that he would attend the City School this year.

From the other end of the county, school officials say that there will definitely be a protest against Lewis' changes to the Kentucky State High School Athletic Association.

Carlson, a junior who stands at 6-3, was one of the best looking prospects in the county when he was a freshman while averaging almost 20 points per game. Last year he was hampered by a knee operation and saw little action after the Christmas holidays. Lewis was expected to be the nucleus for the Dilce Combs club this year as coach Harvey Combs begins his first year tutoring the boys at Jeff.

One county high school coach stated, "There's no such thing as KHSAA or they wouldn't allow this stuff of recruiting players from other places."

Jim McAlarnis

M. C. Napier High football coach Ed Wilson has high praise for a Navajo by the name of McAlarnis but it isn't Danny who many area sports fans know.

This McAlarnis is Jimmy, the brother of Danny, and he is doing a bang-up job in the backfield according to the Napier mentor. Jim, who stands 6-1 and weighs 165, is a junior and Wilson thinks he will outdo his brother in the pigskin game. "Danny was a great runner for Napier," said Wilson, "but Jimmy has more speed and can change directions as well as anybody."

Blackburn To Receive Award

Hazard Little League football commissioner Moscoe Blackburn will be honored at one of the Hazard football games according to Hazard Mayor Willie Dawahare.

Mr. Blackburn will be presented a plaque by the Mayor in behalf of Charles Vettner, The Flying Dutchman of the KHSAA Journal, for his outstanding work in the Little League football program in Hazard.

"Moscoe is only the second person to receive this award," quoted the Mayor. Mr. Dawahare will be making the presentation as he was named last year as "Mr. Recreation" of Ky.

Assistant coaches at high schools are seldom mentioned in any news media but I would like to take this opportunity to say that with assistant coaches in any sport the boys are built better both physically and mentally. The assistant coaches at Hazard, Astor "Cat" Sizemore and Fred Barnett, and M. C. Napier, Albert Combs and Guy Olinger are doing a great job for their respective schools.

There are still a few group pictures of the Little League baseball teams available at The Herald office. Pictures are available of all teams except the Indians, Yankees and Dodgers. Parents should purchase a picture of their youngster as a young baseball player. A large 8 x 10 glossy print is only $1.25.

M. C. Napier Tackles Wheelwright In Home Opener

Game-Time Is 7:30 P.M. For Navajos-Trojans War-Fight At Napier Athletic Field

Entering a 12-game schedule the M. C. Napier Navajos take their first big bite of the 1964 season when they collide head-on with Wheelwright's Trojans tomorrow night at 7:30 at the Napier Athletic Field.

The Navajos appear to be ready for the big contest with the exception of lineman Lige Miller. Miller suffered a sprained ankle in practice this week and is still a doubtful starter according to Wilson.

Napier's Big Men

The big men for Wilson's crew this year will be a freshman, a sophomore, a junior, and a senior. Heading the line-men will be 190-pound sophomore Kenneth Finnison. Backfield gridders will shine this year if the Navajos are to have a good season. Gene Ritchie, 190-pound freshman, will hold the fullback position down along with young Gene Ballard at left-half and Jimmy McAlarnis at right-half.

Fields To Quarterback

Mickey Joe Fields, a 175-pound senior will quarterback the Napier eleven.

Expected to see action besides the starting line-up are end Martin Allen, guard Wayne King, back Bobby Parsons, and back Tommy Brock.

Following the Wheelwright contest, the Navajos travel to Hyden August 28 for a night encounter with the Leslie County Eagles.

Fairgrounds Motor Speedway Known As Finest Race Track

Fairgrounds Motor Speedway, "500" New Car Championship in existence only four short years is fast becoming the country's best known as well as its Finest Quarter Mile, Asphalt Auto Race Track.

Already known around the world for the Inaugural C.B.S. Telecast of Speedway's Fabulous Figure 8, the track has now scored another first with national automotive accessory manufacturers contributing to the record $6,835.00 purse for the 3rd Annual International "500" New Stock Car Race to be held Saturday night, August 15th.

Mr. R. L. Sexton, Secretary-Treasurer of the world famous $312,000.00 Fairgrounds Motor Speedway, announced today that the advance ticket sales for the 3rd Annual International

In view of the phenomenal growth of the International "500" which is now recognized as the Nation's No. 1 Short Track New Car Classic, Mr. Sexton stated that Speedway is contemplating an expansion next spring to a Half Mile asphalt semi-banked race track with seating capacity for 15,000 people while retaining the present Quarter Mile track inside the new Half Mile Oval. Louisville will then have again a Half Mile Speedway within the confines of its metropolitan area for the first time since 1936 when the old "Dixie Speedway" bit the dust.

Latonia Race Course To Offer Sale of Season Boxes For 24-Day Session

The sale of season boxes at Latonia Race Course is underway at the Northern Kentucky thoroughbred center which ushers in the first of twomeetings on September 4 with a 24-day session.

Frank E. Tours, executive vice president of Latonia, said the price of a four-seat box is $100 for both meetings which cover 42 afternoons of thoroughbred sport.

"Only those boxes on the lower terrace will be offered for sale," Tours explained. He said the price per box per meeting is $50. Latonia's second meeting gets underway on November 23 and continues through December 12.

The racetrack's top executive advised that season boxes are being sold on a first come, first served basis and urged racegoers interested in obtaining choice boxes near the finish line to contact the general office at once by telephone 371-0200.

A R C A's Harold Smith, the 1962 International "500" winner, and Speedway's own Jesse Baird, who won it in 1963 before 5,591 fans, are both entered again this year to attempt a "Repeat". Also "Charging Charlie Glotzbach" who won A R C A's August 5 Lawrenceburg, Indiana race, after winning Speedway's 50 Lap Feature the Saturday night before, has served notice that he's out to make it three in a row Saturday night.

The race is a 125 mile test that automotive experts rate as the toughest of challenges for any automobile due to the constant punishment on brakes, transmissions, engines and other vital parts.

BUSY Residents Clean Around Church

By W. R. Williston

We postponed our services Sunday at the Big Willard Christian Church due to the services at the Fugate Cemetery at the mouth of Willard, but it rained so hard that Uncle Jack couldn't be brought out. He was the one who wanted the services in honor of his wife, Betsy Fugate, and grandson, Jackie Fugate.

We did have a good meeting at Big Creek Sunday evening. Brother Archie Everage was the preacher.

George Wooton and your writer have been clearing around the church and it looks a lot better.

Our visitors and dinner guests were Jane and Judy Combs, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Combs and baby, from Indiana, and little Sharon Kay Haddix, of Rowdy.

Virgie Campbell returned home Sunday from the hospital where she has been for the past week suffering from flu. We hope she recovers completely soon.

The parents around here are buying back-to-school clothes for the children. They all seem to be real glad school is starting.

This date, Aug. 4, 1964, have just returned from a Fish & Game Club Meeting, with squirrel season opening soon it was very disappointing to see a turn out of only five members present at this meeting. When I know how many hundreds of hunting and fishing licenses sold in Perry County, yet you fellows don't seem to get the interest until an open season is near at hand. Boys, the game is yours, just because you get your license is no reason why you shouldn't take an active part in your local Clubs to see that you can help to promote the outdoor pleasures not only for yourself, but above all for your children and their children. Fellows your Natural Resources were placed upon this earth for all to enjoy and to reap their pleasures from same. But man must contribute a certain amount of efforts to assure that these pleasures can be carried on from one generation to another.

If you sit back and wait for some one else to do the job for you, I am afraid that one of these days you and your future posterity could come up lacking because you have failed them somewhere down the line.

This has held true from our past generations of years ago, they thought our forest and game, fish and streams would never play out. Believe me, they would have it it hadn't been for a few over our entire U. S. that hadn't realized how fast we were destroying our resources. I plead with you locally on a home base policy to take more interest to what you do have left.

Fellows, I have heard it over a period of many years, just let something happen in the way of pollution, a hard winter that will wipe out the game, a bad mast year and you don't find the game and fish as you would like. Then you yell to the high heavens that something should be done. ON THE OTHER HAND YOU ARE THE BOYS TO GET THE JOB DONE.

If you are interested in your pleasures as well as looking forward to the future, fellows and also you ladies it is your baby, you can wean it any time you get ready. Or you can wet nurse your problems over another fifty years with the expectations of someone else taking care of your interest for you. Then by that time there will be nothing left for your children or their children.

It is in your hands, you can do a good job in doing your part to help promote better conditions, you can sit down and let it go by without taking an active part in trying to preserve our forests, streams and other items that provides you with the pleasures of the GREAT OUTDOORS.

THIS PAST WEEK

Have heard many complaints in regard to the dust that has been stirred up by the removal of dirt, debris from the destruction of the old court house. Folks, I must agree with you that it has been bad, I know that many of you merchants up and down Main Street have suffered from this. To me this is one of the penalties that we must pay for progress and new construction.

I am sure that many of you have appreciated the fact that something has been done in regard to it. That was spreading a chemical over the street that did absorb the dust. If this hadn't been done, I would be afraid to suggest to what would have happened to Main Street. I am confident that it won't be too long that we will have to tolerate this. I would say that this has been done by an alert CITY GOVERNMENT, this I think we have in the best interest of all concerned. Speaking of our City I think we have some of the very finest employees of any city of our size in the entire U. S. Sometimes I wonder if we realize what it takes to operate a City of our size. Just because you pay your taxes that doesn't make your city any better, neither does it entitle you to any special privileges. To me to have a city or a good County is the cooperation of all trying their level best to see that it is made the City and County to the very best for all that live within their BOUNDRIES, I would suggest that all our NEIGHBORING COUNTIES should be included, to lend them any help possible. Let's quit griping and start making suggestions to improve our city and county. Also this suggestion could extend over many Appalachian Areas in Eastern Kentucky as well as West Virginia, Virginia, Tennessee and others. Folks, we must be LIBERAL in our thinking, not for personal gain, we need a united effort at this time to gain what is needed to revive the entire APPALACHIAN region.

JUST A WORD

In regard to safety, we have heard so much in regard to highway travel and etc., sometimes I think we might forget about home safety, not too long ago a friend told me he was sitting on the throne of his home, he put a cigarette into same and BOOM. What happened was sewer gas was escaping back through various pipes. Check yours today, because you could have a leak that could cause more damage than just a scorching from this.

There is many more safety measures that would cut down on home accidents if a little time and care were used.

This is the season of the year when many spray materials are used, play safe, keep these away from the reach of children. Don't lay in the hot sun in trying to get a sun tan, get it naturally, the sun's rays can cause skin cancer from many doctors' reports I have been reading. Get your sun under normal conditions. Like hiking and fishing, working in the garden.

I BELIEVE

That we should start thinking once again what we can do to help ourselves in regard to flood control. The Hazard Jaycees have taken on a project this year in trying to help do this. They like myself have long advocated clearing up our stream banks, cutting unnecessary growth, and in all trimming up the trees along the banks, also a possibility of some dredging and other items that would not only increase the flow of water, but from the beauty it could offer to our stream banks. Folks, you have no idea what it would mean as a tourist attraction also. I would say that is the fiscal court really wanted to get into a project this certainly would be a worthwhile one for all concerned about the welfare of our county. Once such a project is under way I am confident that individuals will see the contrast, political wise I would say it would be more good than any project that I know of. Health wise alone to clean up our streams should mean a lot to the welfare of each Community. Let me suggest to each Magistrate survey your problems, let's do something ourselves to try to keep a few extra inches of

All In The Delivery

Two brothers—one a famous baseball pitcher, the other a preacher—met after a long separation. Some time was spent in exchanging reminiscences. Then the preacher said: "I've spent four years in college, three years at the seminary, and you've never done anything but play ball, and now you're getting a salary of $10,000 a year while I get $900. I I can't understand it."

Bill thought a minute, then said: "I'll tell you how it is, Jim: it's all in the delivery."

TIME TO WAKE UP!

The question of the hour it seems, is not "What is this country coming to?" but "When is it coming to?"

Girl Scouts Helping With School Work

Thirteen Girl Scouts of the Wilderness Road Council are spending a lively and rewarding week in eight schools of Leslie County, assisting on playgrounds and helping the teachers in the school room.

The adventure came about by the co-operation of Girl Scout leaders, Supt. Hayes Lewis of Leslie County and The Appalachian Volunteers who have been working in rural school districts of Eastern Kentucky for several months.

By their contacts with local people in repairing and renovating rural schools, and after a series of community resource meetings in Leslie County this summer, the Volunteers and the school officials hit upon the idea of letting city girl scouts come to help out in order to encourage city-rural friendship and understanding.

The Wilderness Road Council, having an active interest in the Council of the Southern Mountains, sponsor of the Volunteers, the girls of that area were invited to participate in the Leslie County program.

Girls from Cynthia, Lexington, Harrodsburg, Pineville, and Berea are staying in homes and working in schools in Saylor, Wilder, Spruce Pine, Hurricane, Persimmon, Middle Polls, Rye Cove and Lower Thousand sticks.

Next Friday they will complete their two-weeks visit with their new-found friends in Leslie County.

The Appalachian Volunteers are members of a student organization coordinated and administered by the Council of the Southern Mountains.

Governor Breathitt Works To Combat School Dropout

Governor Edward T. Breathitt declared in announcement of a double-action attack on school dropouts that "we must remember and remember always that those who learn more will earn more."

Breathitt said that "in view of the alarming dropout situation":

1. "The State superintendent of public instruction and I have agreed that a long-range, positive, stepped-up plan to combat the school dropout will be initiated, utilizing present studies and existing personnel in the Department of Education."

2. "A series of regional conferences for school officials under the sponsorship of the Department of Education and my full and effective use of the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964 and the Vocational Act of 1963."

Breathitt told a Kentucky Education Association leadership conference in Lexington that "young boys and girls throughout our state at this very hour, are pondering over the decision to return to school this fall."

"We can no more afford to waste the potential of these young people than we can afford to waste our coal, our oil, our water, or our soil."

"As automation proceeds, there will be an ever diminishing need for the simpler jobs formerly open to those with limited skills and limited education. Those who lack education and training will find themselves vulnerable and unwanted—a social and economic cancer."

Breathitt said that the Economic Opportunity Act, or anti-poverty bill, passed by Congress last week will, among other things, help solve the dropout problem.

He said that under the Act, the State Department of Education and the Area Program Office will work closely with local school districts to set up work-study programs whereby a student will attend school part-time and work part-time.

Other provisions of the Act, he added, will enable Kentucky to establish various programs such as remedial reading and tutoring to prevent dropouts, as well as an adult education program designed to install greater appreciation of education in parents of possible dropouts.

Breathitt said the Vocational Educational Act also is of prime importance to Kentucky in that it will provide for the improvement of trade schools and the establishment of vocational extension schools. These schools, he said, will be in the reach of every student.

Breathitt said, further, that the present Administration has put more State funds into education than any preceding administration. Some $180 million will be spent for education during this academic year, an increase of $19 million over last year.

The Governor added that "the people of Kentucky expect, and I expect, the quality of our schools to improve as a result of this added money."

"First," he said, "we must constantly remember that quality education is the cornerstone of our progress. Kentucky can never reach its full economic potential until we have quality education. That is why we must put education first if we are to put Kentucky first."

schools to improve as a result of this added money."

Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Gabbard and E. G. (Rocky) Rutherford visited Mr. and Mrs. Clay Banks of Morehead Sunday.

The Elmer E. Gabbard Cottage, a dormitory for little boys at the PCWA, is now completed and ready for occupancy.

Mr. Scott Johnson has been ill for the last few days.

Uncle Joe Fed, now walking the streets of glory, which we hear is a Kentucky kind of a place, bought him an old mule on the middle fork of the Kentucky in the old days, and it turned out to be skittish and would run away at the drop of a hat. Uncle Joe Fed went into training the mule better. He told his wife aunt Cat to take a towel and stand off a distance and when the mule started in to running to step in front of the mule and wave the towel in its face to slow it down. Aunt Cat followed directions and the mule reared up on its hind legs and Uncle Joe Fed hit the ground on his head. It took Aunt Cat half an hour to bring him around. He sat up and said, "you fool woman was you a trying to kill your lovin' man?"

"Now, little Joe, honey, you know you told me to wave the towel in his face, and I did!"

"Woman, I thought you knowed I wanted you to kinda wave him down and kinda not wave him down," Uncle Joe Fed told her, rubbing the pumpknut on his head where he'd landed.

Now when you hear the popular old saying to kinda do something and kinda not do it, remember Uncle Joe Fed, Aunt Cat, and the mule.

Policy of Appalachian Regional Hospitals Explained To Public

Statement by Karl S. Klicka, M. D., president of Appalachian Regional Hospitals:

It is generally understood that the United Mine Workers Welfare and Retirement Fund discontinued operation of the 10 MMHA hospitals because they were too expensive for resources.

Appalachian Regional Hospitals was created as a non-profit, humanitarian enterprise to keep the hospitals in operation, because they serve an area critically in need of hospital services.

The trustees of ARH, without the vast resources enjoyed by the UMW Fund, recognized that they had to practice strict economy and operate at maximum efficiency if the hospitals were to succeed. This was recognized, too, by the Commonwealth of Kentucky, whose legislature and officials helped to set up ARH as an independent, non-sectarian corporation.

There are other reasons why ARH must control carefully the expenditure of every penny. In addition to paying the operating expenses of 10 hospitals with more than 1700 employees, it must pay the interest and principal of two loans—one for $4.1 million and another for $750,000.

Radical steps have already been taken to reduce expenses. Personnel has been reduced approximately 25%. Savings have been made by eliminating the out-patient services are now provided by doctors who are practicing as independent practitioners, rather than being on the payroll of the hospitals.

The present budget is $13,666,000 for the fiscal year July 1, 1964 to June 30, 1965. This compares with the expenses for the last full year of operation by MMHA of $16,061,000. Despite this marked reduction in expenses, it is still necessary to have an additional $300,000 in the next year's operations if we expect to have our income match our expenses. Our lack of resources will not permit us to operate with a deficit. So we have no choice except to give consideration to salary reductions across the board with the exception of salaries paid to nurses, technicians and other professional personnel whose services are in such demand that premium wages must be paid if we are to keep the professional personnel we now employ.

It is important to recognize that the minimum wage paid by ARH is $1.25 per hour. Few, if any other hospitals in Kentucky, West Virginia, or Tennessee, pay this basic wage. In the lowest ARH pay categories, (dishwashers, cleaning maids, etc.) an employee can earn as much as $1.49 per hour or $3,102 annually. For similar jobs elsewhere in the area, the customary starting wage is as low as $80 per month, plus one meal daily. The maximum some of these people are paid is $125 per month, plus one meal a day. ARH's beginning wage is $216 per month. Maximum wage in the lowest pay categories for ARH is $258.50.

It is generally recognized that the wages of non-professional employees in ARH are 50 to 100 per cent higher than those paid by hotels and restaurants. ARH has been subjected to considerable criticism because it pays wages higher than the prevailing rates of some communities. Although hospitals are exempted from paying the $1.25 an hour minimum wage required of firms engaged in interstate commerce, ARH does pay this minimum. We do not propose to change our minimum.

Even with the proposed reduction for non-professional employees, the maximum monthly wage in the lower categories will be $241.50 a month or $2,898 a year. This is a respectable wage and it is still about 75% more than is currently paid in hotels, restaurants, and most other hospitals.

The minimum pay reduction proposed is $102 per year or $2 per week. The maximum is $310 per year or $6 per week. The average would be cut $200 per year or $4 per week.

These salary adjustments are proposed for all 10 hospitals. We signed a contract with UMW District 50, covering our first five hospitals, at a time when we had no operating experience and we were also hopeful of receiving large grants from industry and foundations. These grants have not materialized. We can not continue present wages without suffering a sizeable deficit, and we are, therefore, requesting the union to reopen wage negotiations on the first five hospitals acquired October 1, 1963, as well as to accept wage adjustments for the last five hospitals acquired July 1, 1964. These wage reductions should save approximately $175,000. Under MMHA some employees enjoyed a maximum of 4 weeks vacation each year, two months' sick leave and up to 180 days of free hospital care for themselves and their dependents. We are proposing that vacations and sick leave be adjusted to conform with those offered by industry in general, and that health benefits be confined to a Blue Cross policy, provided at ARH expense to each employee. Each employee could buy, through payroll deduction, hospital and medical care for his dependents. These adjustments would save an additional $125,000.

We plan to retain our policy of incentive increments, guaranteeing pay increases to new employees in all categories, although this is seldom done in labor-management contracts of other corporations. Here again, however, our policy will be modified to conform with generally accepted practices in other industries.

Unless savings can be accomplished as outlined above, we will have to resort to drastic personnel cuts which of necessity would cause a reduction in services offered by these hospitals. I do not believe that either the employees or the community would want to suffer this course.

In our judgement, a modest salary reduction at this time appears to be in the best interests of the hospitals, their employees and the community. The proposed reduction represents only 2% of the payroll.

The communities served by ARH can judge whether the adjusted salaries are fair in comparison with other wages paid in the community. Citizens recognize, of course, that the cost of their hospital care is determined in large degree by the salaries which the hospital must pay.

Appalachian Regional Hospitals has been under pressure to reduce the rates it charges for patient care. Even the UMW Welfare and Retirement Fund, which finances care for its beneficiaries in our hospitals, is anxious to see our rates lowered.

Such patrons of ARH hospitals are fully aware that we must cut operating expenses before we can reduce our rates.

The continued successful operation of the ARH hospitals depends on a balanced budget. No hospital can continue to exist long if its expenses exceed income.

I trust all employees of ARH hospitals will understand that, in our efforts to reduce expenses and administer the hospitals efficiently, we are working to protect their jobs. Should the hospitals cease operations, there would be no jobs.

Much more than the welfare of ARH employees is involved in our negotiations with UMW District 50. Also at stake is the welfare of thousands of citizens of a depressed region who are desperately in need of the services offered by our ten hospitals.

Because of this critical situation, we requested the U. S. Department of Labor to help Appalachian Regional Hospitals and UMW District 50 to arrive at an amicable agreement. The Department has assigned its Mediation and Conciliation Service to the problem.

If the final judgment should be left to a mediator, we are confident the decision would be fair and equitable to both sides.

Urban Renewal Necessary

It would seem the newest local fad is protest petitions—against annexation, against cement mixers, and, lately, against the North Main Urban Renewal Project. This latest petition should be overlooked and forgotten, but it cannot be because, for some reason, eight hundred and thirty of our townspeople felt obligated to sign it.

We advocate urban renewal and declare it essential for the development of our community. The project warrants our full support; we ask only that the landowners get a fair price for their property. This is not to mean we condone the inflated figures that a few landowners have quoted as the worth of their property.

As we understand the scheme of things, all it takes to declare an area eligible is that it be a slum area. That term is not to be taken at face value. What it means is that in the area proposed for renewal, fifty-one percent of the buildings must be deficient. In that twenty-point-six acres of the North Main Project, there are thirty-two houses, twenty-three of which are deficient, about seventy-two percent. This speaks for itself. Redevelopment of this section is not only necessary, but most desirable.

We feel Hazard is fortunate to have such an efficient, interested person as Paul Townes as executive director of the urban renewal projects.

The petition cannot be ignored, but we are certain that if it goes before the public for a vote in November, those who are for a progressive, attractive community will approve the North Main project by a substantial margin.

United We Grow, But...

Why? Why must Hazard's chances for the future be damaged or slowed in any manner by internal bickering and friction. Within past weeks, we have noticed, more and more, that Hazard's leadership is split sharply into several camps, not two, nor three, but several.

It is amazing that the city has managed to get as far as it has with so many factions prevalent, tearing and straining at each other. That these factions exist is known by most; that they exist at all is shameful to a dedicated community.

We realize a town without some difference of opinion or points-of-view would be a Utopia. However, these differences should not prevent the townspeople from working together for their community.

Hazard is blessed with its share of responsible leaders, but cooperation among them seems farcial. It is a simple case of too many chiefs and too few Indians. It is known that a city, county, state, or nation divided cannot survive the pressures of time and redevelopment. We cannot let our drive for a better community be hurt, slowed, or, in any way, harmed by a factional lack of cooperation—but that is just what is happening in Hazard. The extent may be small, but it is a good start to a "divided we fall" situation.

These factions must be or should be aware that they cannot help our community fully unless the leadership is united with that one aim.

We have a dream of a united Hazard. Whether it occurs depends upon these people and they know who they are. We can only print words on paper. The citizens must react.

Our "Letters-To-The-Editor" Policy

We wish to point out, again, that to protect ourselves, we cannot print unsigned letters, nor will we print letters that contain libelous, slanderous, or questionable statements.

We will print letters that refer to controversial issues as long as they conform to standards of decency, good taste, and are without libel.

Upon request, we will withhold your name and sign the letter anything you request, but your name must be on the original letter. A signed letter carries much greater weight.

We should also like to point out that the fact that a letter appears within our letters-to-the-editor columns does not mean we approve of the letter, nor does it mean we disapprove.

It is our function to offer the citizens of our community an open forum where they might have their opinions aired and this we do without censoring, censoring, approving, or disapproving of letters we receive.

All we ask is that they conform to standards, as mentioned above.

Please remember, a check is no good unless it is properly signed—neither is the contents of a letter.

WILL IT COME TO THIS?

OUR READERS WRITE

Criticizes Unsigned Letters

EDITOR,
HAZARD HERALD
HAZARD, KENTUCKY

In the August 13 paper, I find two unsigned letters. Why? Could it be they just don't want everyone to know who they are. If I could do as fine a job of criticizing as they did, I'd be very proud of my name.

Just what are those boys doing that is so awful? If I didn't like passing their place of business, I would just take a detour and travel a different road.

We are supposed to be living in a free country, but there are times when we read letters like those two that we are made to wonder, just how free it really is. We don't have the right to tell anyone where to go. I think if we will stop and look around us we will find lots of people from other states. Some of them from a lot further than Texas. Are we going around telling them to go back where they came from? No, I don't think so.

I don't even know who they are criticizing but I do know if we are going to call this a free country, we just can't tell people where to go. We have lots of fine people in Perry County from other states and places. We cannot order just a few out, can we? I am sure if in anyway they break the law, there's a law to handle that, but we still don't have the right to order them to leave the State.

I think we all know that the building they have in Hazard didn't come in by Air Mail. Someone had to rent them the building. So I feel like if someone pays rent on a building they can have ants, even frogs if they want them, as long as they pay the rent.

More Of The Same

To The Editor, Hazard Herald,
Hazard, Ky.

Your unidentified staff of writers are doing an excellent job in putting over your point of view in regard to the activities of the college students who have been working in this area for the past few weeks. I wonder where this staff of writers were when the two college students were detained, interrogated, and given twenty-four hours to leave the state. Why wasn't this incident given publicity by your ample staff of unidentified scribes?

What happened to the three college students and the Professor from the Illinois University that was setting up discussion groups of opposing factions to try to iron out their grievances and become better acquainted with each other's problems?

How about a little friendly public debate as to the merits or demerits of the activities of the visiting college students?

If interested give me a ring and we will meet and agree upon the time, place and rules governing such discussions.

Awaiting your reply with great interest, Very Truly Yours
EVERETTE THARP, citizen.

The Governor Speaks

Let's Look it Over

by
Edward T. Breathitt
Frankfort—

I've got a good thing—a gilt-edged, life-time, blue-chip investment in the future—for the some 52,000 young Kentuckians who will have reached the right-to-vote age of 18 by November 3.

The good thing is this: If you are not on the books already, register without delay to vote in this year's election for President, Vice President, and seven Kentucky congressmen. The deadline to do this is September 5.

This same investment for their future and the future of their country is also available free to other Kentuckians who until now have neglected to register to vote.

The qualifications are routine. Besides being 18 or over, on or before November 3, election day, the prospective voter must have lived in the State, one year, his county six months, and his precinct 60 days.

There are many good, sound reasons to take immediate advantage of this opportunity.

One standing out is that registration privileges you to choose between the two combinations of candidates for President and Vice President—Democratic or Republican—and then vote not only for the men but for the platform on which they hope to ride to victory.

As holdover, neither of Kentucky's United States senators is up for reelection this year, but the registered residents of the seven congressional districts in the Commonwealth will choose as many members of the national House of Representatives.

These representatives, representing you, will have a voice in the approval or rejection of all new and pending legislation in both the Senate and the House. Some of these bills will be national in scope; others of interest mainly to you, your District, and your State.

How do you stand on medicare, on social security? What are your thoughts of the war on poverty, the Appalachian program? How about federal aid to education? Would you like to see Kentucky's Land Between the Lakes developed into a great recreation area?

These and other lively issues are likely to rise before the next Congress in one form or another.

Kentuckians who register and vote will have a hand in the selection of these congressmen—their congressmen—who will debate also varied questions vital to our foreign relations. How would you contain Communism? What about Red China? South Vietnam? Cuba?

Once a Kentuckian gets his name on a registration book, he has a right to vote for or against candidates, special taxes, bond issues and other questions of state in all elections.

Local elections for mayor, County judge and other County officials will be held throughout the state in November, 1965. The people will vote at the same time on a $176 million bond issue for roads and capital construction.

A person registered as a Democrat or Republican is privileged to vote in his respective party's primary election for the selection of the party's nominees. A person registered as independent may not vote in either primary.

A citizen by his registration as a Democrat or a Republican can take part, starting at the county level, in selection of delegates to his party's presidential nominating convention. If you are registered, it would seem, you belong. If you are not, the deadline is September 5.

Herald-ings

by Martha M. Nolan

We here at The Herald have mixed emotions this week. One moment we are glad and the next sad, you may ask why? Well, for one thing, the pigeonholing of the Appalachia Bill gave us quite a scare, then suddenly like the proverbial sick kitten it comes to life again and in turn our hopes rise.

Speaking of the Appalachia bill—we believe if congress could take a tour with us up Linefork in Letcher county or down Kings-creek or Mason's Creek in Perry County where a new school will open in September and see the type of roads hundreds of our children, and future citizens have to travel over in all kinds of weather, just to mention a few such roads, they would act promptly and favorably on this much needed legislation. The roads alone, this bill would provide, would be compensation enough for the money expended. Our people, we have said all along can solve the problems of Appalachia if given three things: (1) Roads; (2) Flood Control; (3) educational advantages. All other problems would pale, with these three facilities up to the 20th century standards enjoyed elsewhere in our nation.

We know that our Kentucky congressmen, and senators, will work for this all important legislation, and hope and pray they can inspire others to work with them to get it through both houses.

Another incident that has disturbed us is the work some citizens are doing on blocking the North Main Street project. We are not criticizing them for their work. We believe inevery one working in his own interest, and we feel these people are doing just that. Naturally, people, who do not build or even repair, or own property do not have the least idea what it costs to build now-a-days. You may say, "those old buildings are not worth much." True, they may not be, but try to replace them to get the same income, then you will see how it disturbs any one to find out suddenly they are at the mercy of the appraisers, and will have to relocate. We know that people love to build and beautify, so why should not our government go just a little farther, and allow enough to erect buildings that will be lasting monuments, and things of beauty to our communities. No need to remove one eye-sore and supplant it with others; this, it seems to us is practicing a type of false economy.

Another thing that has saddened us, is the fact that some of our friends are getting involved over obstructing the river. Of course we would not be true to ourselves or our future generations to say we condone these things, but we are sad that they happened to such nice community-minded people as they have. Let us say here that we think the ones who are being charged are in a sense unfortunate guinea pigs. Progress must start somewhere and maybe the State feels these are the type of people to use for examples. We hope this law will be enforced for all time and will not be, "just a flash in the pan," like so many of our laws have proven. I. e., Strip-mine laws, Car graveyards, etc.

Letter to the Editor

Hazard Herald

I would like to express my appreciation to the Hazard Herald for the July 30, 1964, issue on "Our Town and County". I as well as thousands of interested citizens have been very much concerned for over a year about the degrading things on television and outside publicity concerning Eastern Kentucky.

I am a Perry Countian and have been most of my life, and never before has our county been the subject of outside interference and agitation as we have had for the past year or more. We have always solved our problems, taken care of our county, and as for myself and thousands of citizens who are concerned, we shall continue to do so without any interference or trouble.

We have good people in our county whom I fear have been misled by flowery promises by strangers who have no interest in our people. We mountaineers have always been able to think for ourselves, work out our own problems if and when we have any.

Sure, we have unemployment in our county, not to mention the millions of Americans who are unemployed, but there is no one naked or starving to death and these statements have been made for the past year, not only that, but stating our people are growing up in ignorance. These statements are as untrue as the others that have been published.

None of these people can truthfully say our schools are the worst in the nation. How are they to know? If they were to visit the schools it would be from a critical view to try to stir up trouble, and degrade our county and city. If these people are interested in helping humanity, why aren't they home where they belong helping their own people? Does Texas, New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey or any states they represent have everything in perfect order? It seems many of these states have been having their own problems for the past few months.

If these people are interested in Southeastern Kentucky, why did they, as soon as they came to Perry County a year ago begin attacking our county officials, our schools and all leading citizens in our city and county? They have never given a report on the modern schools in the city and county, which we have many of today, our churches, nice homes, business places, and many more things we are very proud of.

There is not one good citizen in our county who isn't interested in seeing our county progress. Our school officials and teachers will continue to do everything possible for our children as they have in the past.

Good Citizens of our county, it's time for us to look around and see what has and is continuing to happen in our county, and learn who is bringing these people to our county. Where is their support coming from? Investigate their associates. These people are nothing but an agitation to trouble with deceiving promises. They are not here to educate or help our people in any way.

A Mountaineer down through the centuries have been an independent people, and a God fearing people. How can anyone follow a person such as George Goss or anyone else when they are not sure there is a God? "The fool hath said in his heart, There is no God. They are corrupt, they have done abominable works, there is none that doeth good." Psalms 14:1.

Good Citizens of Perry County, it's time we woke up and stand up for the principles our forefathers stood for and taught down through the generations.

All through history when any county follows the wrong principles such as those we are having in our county today, they soon fall under the yoke of oppression.

Methodist Pastor Defends Goss

The Hazard Herald

It is with interest that I read the news item and editorial on your July 30 issue concerning George Goss and the Appalachian Committee for Full Employment.

In the news article, it appears that the only probing of the Committee is the less-than-minimum wage and the lack of tools (pills the long walk). Nowhere were these accusations refuted (by judge or editor). The judge even ruled that tools would henceforth be furnished.

Either these accusations are true or false. And it is on this basis that Mr. Goss should be judged.

However, you accuse him of "stirring up trouble" . . . of not being involved" . . . of belonging to "an extremely liberal group" . . . of "misrepresenting the situation to the fellows" . . . of causing "trouble and unrest".

If the issues really cause that much "trouble and unrest" it is not Mr. Goss that should be judged, but the authority which allows them to exist. You raise a serious question about Mr. Goss's loyalties and background . . . without really trying to know them.

Mr. Goss chose the work he is doing from a deliberate concern for the plight of those in our great nation who suffer from the misfortunes (backlash) of the free enterprise system. His mission is motivated by the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ. He says he "is not sure there is a God" . . . but he means he is not sure there is a God who can be popularly worshipped and whose followers can continue to ignore and be indifferent to the crying needs of fellow human beings.

Mr. Goss is not sure there is a God . . . Who sits up in the clouds with majestic indifference . . . Who cares not for the poor and disfranchised . . . Whose love is only for the lucky or gifted . . .

Whose rewards come only in some "hereafter" . . .

Who tolerates social and racial injustice . . .

Who plays favorites among men.

Nor am I sure this kind of God really exists.

It is not surprising that authorities react so firmly against men like George Goss. Then authorities did the same against the "Sons of Liberty" who demonstrated, boycotted, harassed the narrow leadership of the crown in 1774. The authorities did the same to Jesus of Nazareth. They did the same against Luther and Wesley . . . and they will always do the same.

George has a deep feeling for the people of Hazard . . . for he feels deeply for his fellow man. As a former counselor and friend, I prize his friendship and courage. He may make mistakes, but they occur in the range of high ideals and some practical experience. He does not fear the judgment of authorities, but respects it . . . he fears that he will not be effective toward the goal of serving men who stand in need.

I am deeply sorry that poverty and unemployment and hunger exist in your city and state. I know that the authorities ARE doing all they can to improve the conditions. My sincere sympathy is with you as . . . it is with the poor and hungry in my own home town of Falfurrias.

But don't unjustly criticize this young man for risking his person in order to "participate in history". At least he speaks and works in the stream of history . . . he is not vegetating like so many other conforming youth of today.

My prayer is that more men like George Goss will get involved in the difficulties of living today, that the issues will become clarified and decisions can be made that will allow ALL Americans to share the American Dream.

Let's Talk about Money

...it's a fascinating subject

Money is very beautiful stuff to look at ... not so much, perhaps, because of its artistic design as because the sight of it reminds us of the many pleasing and necessary things it can do for us.

... Yet ... if we're not careful about how we handle it, we may thoughtlessly cheat ourselves out of some of the finer things our money can bring us.

... Because only a part of each dollar we spend puts actual goods and services into our hands. Whether we like it or not ... some of that dollar also goes toward the upbuilding and support of the community in which it is spent ... to pay for the schools and churches, the roads and streets, the police and fire protection and other social facilities that make up modern living ... and to make stronger that community's economy.

... If the area benefitting from our trade is that in which we live, then we get for ourselves all that our hard-earned money pays for ... and often many times over ... in better business, better jobs, better living among more good and useful neighbors.

Coal Production Increases for Year

Coal production in the Hazard Field amounted to 183,300 tons during the week ended August 8, 1964 bringing the total for the year to date to 5,091,940 tons.

In announcing the figures, the Hazard Coal Operators Association said the week's production was 15.34 per cent below the 216,510 tons mined during the corresponding week last year. Production for the year to date indicates an increase of 7.36 per cent over the 4,743,040 tons at the same date last year.

Tonnages are computed on a 50-ton-per-car basis and are subject to adjustment.

VIPER

Outing Enjoyed At Highland Camp

By Mrs. Marion Brashear

The family of the late Marion H. Brashear enjoyed a week's outing at the Highland Camp at Guernsey, Breathitt County, Kentucky, on August 3 through August 9.

Those attending were Mrs. Marion H. Brashear of Viper and her children with their families as follows: Mr. and Mrs. William M. Brashear and son of Burgin, Kentucky; Mr. and Mrs. Eli B. Brashear of Warwick, Virginia; the Delmar Proffitt family of Viper; Mrs. Louise Dalton Brashear of Pikeville, Kentucky; the Elmer Brashear family of Indianfields, Kentucky;

The Corbett H. Brashear family of Viper; the Adrian R. Brashear family of Lothair; Mrs. Claudine Ferguson and children of Dayton, Ohio; and Mr. and Mrs. Mark Brashear and son of Middletown, Ohio. Marshall, Kay and Ernie Davidson, of Viper also attended.

Visitors during the week were Mrs. Reed Jennings of Gretna, Virginia, Miss Imogene Borders of Indianfields, Kentucky, Jim and Luke Little of Pikeville, Kentucky, Mrs. Esther Brashear and her daughter, Laverne of Viper, Kentucky.

Robert Campbell Completes Clerical Course Aug. 14

Army Private Robert L. Campbell, whose wife, Joyce, lives in Viper, Ky., completed an eight-week clerical course August 14, at the U. S. Army Armour Center at Fort Knox, Kentucky.

Campbell received instruction in English grammar, typing, Army correspondence and the preparation of morning reports.

Campbell is the son of Lee H. Campbell, Viper, Ky. He was employed by M. C. Trucking Co., Hazard, before entering the Army.

David and Robert Eli Causey of Chicago, Illinois (grandsons of Mrs. Esther Brashear) also visited the camp.

The group spent one afternoon swimming and boating at Buckhorn Lake. Every day was packed with fun - outdoor games, scavenger hunts, family movies, music, folk games, jokes, stunts, plenty good food and refreshments with a day of cooking and dishwashing scheduled for each camper.

Elmer Brashear of Indianfields, Kentucky, was the speaker for the Sunday School and worship service.

Everyone had a wonderful time and it is suggested by Mrs. Marion H. Brashear that all grandmothers plan such a gathering for their families to bring them closer together.

Buckhorn Lodge Dedicated Aug. 14 By Governor Breathitt

The new lodge at Buckhorn Lake Park, dedicated August 14, 1964 by Governor Edward T. Breathitt, is the final item in the vast State parks expansion project undertaken by Kentucky in 1960. The 10th such luxury resort to be built under the $20 million program, Buckhorn Lodge adds the crowning touch to what has become America's finest State park system.

Governor Breathitt, speaking at the dedication said the Bluegrass State now wants to catch its breath, hang onto the prize it has won with so much effort and make sure its beautiful properties are maintained in tip-top shape.

"When more money becomes available," he said, "we'll add more jewels to the crown."

The lodge was designed by Gillig-Christman and Miller, architectural associates of Lexington, Ky., and built by W. D. Johnson of Ashland, Ky. Charles E. Locke of Louisville's Furniture Mart, Inc., did the furnishing and decorating.

The tri-level structure's 24 units extend in two wings on either side of the lobby-dining room area. Each unit has two double beds, year-round fingertip control of heating and cooling, ceramic tiled, ultra modern bath with tub and glass shower enclosure, TV, phone, individual outdoor balcony overlooking the lake with floor to ceiling sliding glass doors and drapes, indirect lighting, wall-to-wall carpeting and sumptuous modern furniture.

The lodge's exterior is of native stone and wood with every advantage taken of the breathtaking beauty of the mountain setting. The feel of the mountain outdoor has been brought inside by the lavish use of planters with flowers and ivy climbing up the central stone column of the lobby. The rustic outdoor colors are reflected into the lobby by reversible draperies that were specially designed to shield the immense glass window areas from the afternoon sun without destroying the magnificent scenic views. The same material is used in the dining room.

The theme of Kentucky's heritage is subtly suggested throughout the graceful structure and decor of Buckhorn Lodge. It is dramatically pointed up in the lobby by a great piece of coal which springs a life-like Japonica tree.

Buckhorn Lake State Park is off Kentucky Highway 28, 25 miles from Hazard.

Kentucky's parks commissioner, Robert D. Bell, says that with all its advantages of spectacular scenery, magnificent fishing and every modern vacation facility, Buckhorn's success as a family resort is assured.
